“ Katie and Albert were not just customers to me. I have been delivering their mail for about 10 yrs. I always enjoyed seeing her working out in the yard. She would sometimes leave me tomatoes in the box. Always smiling!! I have missed her over the summer. Did not see her but a few times. Love her so much!! My condolences to the family. Prayers for the family.

“ Davinia,
I send my sincere condolences to you and your family and pray to the Lord to bless your mom Katie's soul with peace and give you strength to cope up with the loss.

Years ago, I suffered the loss of a parent as well and have witnessed God's strength in healing. Rest assured that she is now in God's home and He will provide you and your family with the comfort and strength to get through this most difficult time.

“ As for grief, you'll find it comes in waves. When the ship is first wrecked, you're drowning, with wreckage all around you. Everything floating around you reminds you of the beauty and the magnificence of the ship that was, and is no more. And all you can do is float. You find some piece of the wreckage and you hang on for a while. Maybe it's some physical thing. Maybe it's a happy memory or a photograph. Maybe it's a person who is also floating. For a while, all you can do is float. Stay alive.

In the beginning, the waves are 100 feet tall and crash over you without mercy. They come 10 seconds apart and don't even give you time to catch your breath. All you can do is hang on and float. After a while, maybe weeks, maybe months, you'll find the waves are still 100 feet tall, but they come further apart. When they come, they still crash all over you and wipe you out. But in between, you can breathe, you can function. You never know what's going to trigger the grief. It might be a song, a picture, a street intersection, the smell of a cup of coffee. It can be just about anything...and the wave comes crashing. But in between waves, there is life.

Somewhere down the line, and it's different for everybody, you find that the waves are only 80 feet tall. Or 50 feet tall. And while they still come, they come further apart. You can see them coming. An anniversary, a birthday, or Christmas, or landing at O'Hare. You can see it coming, for the most part, and prepare yourself. And when it washes over you, you know that somehow you will, again, come out the other side. Soaking wet, sputtering, still hanging on to some tiny piece of the wreckage, but you'll come out.

Davinia.... Ms Vinu and family .. The Phillips Family are keeping you in our thoughts and prayers

“ I am a co-worker/Team member of DJ Johnson and saddened to hear of the loss of her mother. I too lost my mom a few years back and I know the magnitude of such a loss.

But sadness turns into a warm feeling knowing that one day we will meet again, through the grace of GOD!!!

To GOD be the GLORY!!

Warmest Regards,

“ As a co-worker to Mrs. Jennings' daughter, Davinia “DJ” Johnson, I would also like to express my deepest condolences to the entire family for their loss.

Finding the right words of empathy to condole someone who lost her mom can be a real challenge. Someone once said to me after my mom died "A man loves his sweetheart the most, his wife the best, but his mother the longest." No one can replace your mom, but God can comfort your heart.

“ DJ, I am so sorry to learn of the loss of your mom. You have my deepest sympathy and prayer.....One thing we know for sure and is confident about .....is to be absent from the body, is to be present with the Lord.

May you and your family be comforted at this time.

Jose M.

Do not let your hearts be troubled. You believe in God, believe also in me. My Father's house has many rooms; if that were not so, would I have told you that I am going there to prepare a place for you?
